The above is in reply to a cablegram sent to the AMERICAN'S correspondent in Rome directing him to express to Pope Benedict gratitude for his efforts for peace and requesting a message from the Pontiff that would aid the world-wide effort toward peace.

JAMES PICKED TO ROUT GIANTS IN FINAL TODAY

By NICK FLATLEY.
Now we have another of those big days right with us. No matter what those Braves do, no matter what is aching around right in the middle of the hottest kind of a situation. After that record-breaking season of 1913 or so that went with joy in the morning and with tears in the afternoon yesterday, the Braves and Giants will, when they started—up for first place.

Against him today McGraw has only the temperamental Babe Marquard, with a proud record of eight straight defeats, or the untidy though costly Marty O'Connell of Philadelphia, and $25,000 fans to lead to the box. There you are.

Something in the line of a record week day crowd is in order for Fenway Park this afternoon.

LAST GAME.

The Braves have their last opportunity to push the Giants straight through the personal application method still way along toward the close of the season. This will also be the final appearance of the champions of yore in this mark of the woods in the glorious season of 1914.

Yesterday afternoon's disaster and everything else to the contrary notwithstanding, there should and probably will be some collection of fans when the two little clubs for National League supremacy get going.

Regarding that dreadful scene at 2 p. m. it might be said that the strain of playing twice in one day before

DOCTOR ORDERS THOUSANDS OF COMPLETE REST FOR GOVERNOR MEET SUNDAY IN WAR PROTEST

Governor David I. Walsh, a patient at the Des Brie Hospital in Newbury street since he was thrown from a horse yesterday at the Park Riding School, will not see a State paper and will receive no visitors for at least forty-eight hours. This Secretary Thomas H. Connelly said this afternoon at the State House, according to the imperative order of Dr. C. L. Scudder, Governor Walsh had a good night and is today resting comfortably.

The Governor sustained a compound fracture of the right arm. He was taking his first riding lesson. He was planning to go to Baltimore for the Star Spangled Banner celebration and had hoped to ride in the big Flag Day parade of September 11.

Organized labor today took up the peace propaganda with enthusiasm. Ignatius McNulty, president of the Building Trades Council of the American Federation of Labor and International Vice-President of the United Workers' Union, announced that at the meeting of union men tonight he will move that all organized labor be called out to attend the memorial mass meeting Sunday on the Common.

There are 35,000 men in organized labor in Boston. If these men vote to attend the meeting in a body it will be one of the most remarkable demonstrations Boston or any other city has ever seen. Governor Walsh, unless he foresees complications, follow his friends and will appear as the principal speaker of the day. There will be no other speakers. The meeting will not discuss the cause of war. No names will be cast at any one. But the speakers, accepting the war as a fact, will arrive to deliver means for ending the war and for making war impossible hereafter.

Besides Mayor Curley and Governor Walsh the speakers will include Ralph N. M. Wheeler, Mrs. Maud Wood Park, Bishop John W. Hamilton, and Albert J. Bryant of the World Peace Society.

For full details of the great peace movement in Boston and throughout the country see Page 4.

Pilot Boat Liberty Saves 6 in Squall

The pilot boat Liberty, during yesterday's squall, rescued six South Boston men, seafish and exhausted, who were adrift in a small mill-race just outside the harbor. The Liberty towed the little boat to Pemberton. Early today the Liberty was seen going to the assistance of a yawl-rigged sloop at anchor off the Graves.

WIGHT AS SLAYER

"Sir" James Carlton, who landed in Boston two months ago on the liner "Cleveland," and announced himself as the representative of millions of English capital which he was to spend in establishing oxygen manufacturing plants in Boston and other American cities, was arrested today in his office in the New Hancock Building on a federal warrant charging him with violating the white slave law. "Lady" Carlton, whom Carlton brought to America as his wife, was also arrested at the apartment in Cambridge where the Carltons moved from the Hotel Touraine.

The young woman confessed to Immigration Inspector Leonard this afternoon that she was J. J. Wellen's stenographer in Glasgow, Scotland, and had eloped to America with him without marriage.

Carlton was very indignant at his arrest. He said his wife before her marriage was Miss Annie Baird, daughter of Sir Andrew Baird, surgeon-general of the English troops in Scotland.

Carlton's arrest comes as another dramatic touch to a career which started with many flourishes in Boston when Carlton and his wife gave a big dinner at the Coplay-Plan Hotel to the captain of the Cleveland, sent for reporters to have himself interviewed, told of his big plans for establishing oxygen plants and was taken for a ride about the city by Standish Wilcox of Mayor Curley's office, who extended to the "Wagon City" a drive to the English capital and his wife.

Next came hints in the newspapers that perhaps "Sir" John was not the goods, and his "secretary," who said his name was Captain Percy Vernon Smith of the Junior Army and Navy Club, London, said that, too, had his doubts of "Sir" James.

Some Boston bards called in the Morgan-Gardner Bankers' Service to find about Sir James, and Sir Morgan of the agency put it up to Sir James to tell all about himself. Carlton refused, but said he would do so next morning.

That night Sir James and his wife left the city. Later they returned. Carlton opened up offices in the New Hancock Building on Devonshire street, and took a quiet life in the East Boston to start his Boston oxygen plant.

Morgan did some investigating in the meantime, calling on Carlton and as a result Morgan told his story to the federal authorities. A warrant for Carlton's arrest and that of his wife.

Carlton claims he is what he claims to be, and that the whole affair is a giant conspiracy against him.

ADVANCE ON GERMANS IS FOLLOWED UP

PARIS, Sept. 8.—It is officially announced that the Allies are advancing against Montmirail and the Germans are retreating. Violent fighting between La Fere and Vitry; also south of the Argones course. Germans also retreating here. French right wing repulsed German cavalry and French have retaken positions of St. Maudray and Founaux.

The French Government, from its new seat at Bordeaux, and the French War Office at Paris, declared today that the allies, having checked the German movement in northeastern France, are now advancing with assured success.

The latest statement by the French War Office was cabled by Franklyn P. Merriek, Paris correspondent of the International News Service, as follows:

PARIS, Sept. 8.—The following official statement was issued at 3 p. m.: "The Allies are doing well all along the line."

Shortly before that the International News Service correspondent at Bordeaux cabled:

BORDEAUX, Sept. 8.—The following official statement was issued at the War Office this noon:

"The advance of the French and British troops continues. We are convinced that the success of the allies is assured. The battle is in progress along the line, but there is frequently a lull, as the opposing forces shift their position. General Joffre says that all is going well. That the masterly mind of Minister of War Millerand is directing the campaign, at least for the French forces, is shown by the fact that the allies took the offensive immediately after he had paid a secret visit to Paris."

Great Britain has called even her retired officers to the front. A bulletin says:

LONDON, Sept. 8.—All officers, retired and otherwise, have been called to the colors.

The official German view, however, is that allies are merely at their last desperate stand. Frederick Werner called this noon from Berlin:

BERLIN, Sept. 8.—The German army constantly pursuing the retreating armies of France and England, has at last forced the enemy to give battle," says an official statement issued at the War Office today. "The result is

HOOPER'S PEACE TO BE HELD ON COMMON IN BLEA FOR PEACE

The people of New England today rushed to enroll themselves on the World Peace Committee which is to work for peace. The committee, organized through the incitation of the Boston AMERICAN and Mr. Hearst's other newspapers, is to have its place in a great international peace movement.

Already the rulers of Denmark, Bolivia, Costa Rica, Salvador, Guatemala and China have taken their places in the peace ranks. The governors of half the states in the Union have already given their interest. The Mayors of more than forty cities have placed their names on the roll. And senators and representatives almost as one man are joining the fight. The movement will be crystallized by a meeting next Sunday afternoon at Hooper's. Mr. Hearst will preside and in the spirit of his broken arm, Governor Walsh has promised to appear as the principal speaker. There will be other speakers, representing civil life and the Christian and Hebrew organizations of the city. It is expected fifty thousand people will come to the meeting, perhaps a hundred thousand. It will be a tremendously powerful protest against the fact of war, and a tremendous potential ground for peace. Already local labor men are joining the movement, while Barackding, head of labor's national organization, has pledged his best efforts to the cause of peace. Here are the names of the first citizens of Boston and New England to enroll in the World Peace Committee:

SAYS GERMANY IS NOW READY TO TALK PLANS FOR PEACE

CHICAGO, Sept. 8.—The Herald today prints the following dispatch from John Chan O'Loughlin, its Washington correspondent: "Germany, declaring that she has France beaten to her knees, desires to enter into negotiations for the termination of the great world conflict now raging."

"Austria, after suffering terrible defeats in Serbia and Galicia, has declared the attitude of her ally."

"Germany believes that Great Britain, France and Russia are in a receptive frame of mind."

LOWERING OF PRESTIGE. "This is the big news today. It comes to the correspondent of the Chicago Herald from a reliable source."

"If the war should continue and the allies have success, the prestige of Germany would be lessened."

"Germany defeat would result in the continuance of the war."

"Peace would mean for the allies a tremendous lowering of prestige over the world."

"As proof that something has been done with reference to peace it may be seen."

"Ambassador Straus, former Secretary of Commerce and Labor, former Ambassador to Turkey and American member of the tribunal at The Hague, came hurriedly to Washington during the day (Monday) to see the Secretary of State."

"Mr. Bryan at once conferred with the President. Then the Secretary summoned the various Ambassadors to his home for private conference."

"The German Ambassador came hurriedly to Washington. He too, saw the Secretary of State."

"Following the Secretary's interview with the Ambassadors Mr. Straus called upon the diplomats. Before his departure, Mr. Straus declined to admit that his visit had any relation with peace."

"The time may come—in fact, must come," he said, "when our good office of mediation for the hope and the tangible instrument in bringing peace to the world will be realized by following the policy of neutrality."

PROVIDENCE PASTOR PRAISES PEACE STAND OF HEARST PAPERS

PROVIDENCE, Sept. 8.—"Mr. Hearst proposes exactly what I have been hoping and praying for," said Rev. P. H. Decker, superintendent of Church House. "I shall ask Bishop Butler, Monsignor Doran, Governor Dummer, Mayor Salner and others to address our people Sunday afternoon in front of the City Hall in the interest of humanity."

"The battle of bullets instead of ideas that is being waged in Europe has resulted in horrible suffering and we, the American people, should let Europe realize that the American attitude has changed. The Boston AMERICAN is in harmony with me."

"War is not the only method in which differences can be justly settled. We are accustomed to the idea that we will ally by without any further interest. But the blood is our souls. It is amazing that the Christian sentiment of America has not aroused before, but it is not too late."

"Every resident, regardless of nationality, follow the lead laid out by Mr. Hearst, and let us make every effort to have this horrible carnage cease and to have the difference settled by arbitration."

PRESIDENT CALLS PEOPLE OF NATION TO DAY OF PRAYER

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—President Wilson today issued a proclamation designating Sunday, October 4, as the day of prayer in the United States for peace in Europe. The proclamation follows:

"Whereas, great nations of the world have taken up arms against one another and war now draws millions of men into battle, when the counsel of statesmen have not been able to save from a terrible sacrifice; and

"Whereas, in this, as in all things, it is our privilege and duty to seek counsel and succor of Almighty God, humbling ourselves before Him, confessing our weakness and our lack of any wisdom equal to these things; and

"Therefore, it is the especial wish and longing of the people of the United States, in prayer and counsel, and all friendship, to serve the cause of peace;

"Therefore, I, Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States of America, do designate Sunday, the fourth day of October next, a day of prayer and supplication, and do request all God-fearing persons to repair on that day to their places of worship, to unite their petitions to Almighty God that, overruling the counsel of the men, setting straight the things they cannot govern or alter, taking pity on the nations now in the throes of conflict, in His mercy and goodness showing the way where men can see none, He vouchsafe His children lasting peace again and restore once more that concord among men and nations without which there can be neither happiness nor true friendship nor any wholesome fruit of thought in world; praying also to this end that He forgive us our sins, our ignorance of His will, our selfishness and many errors and lead in the paths of obedience to places of vision and to thoughts and counsels that purge and make clean."

"In witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed. Done at the city of Washington, this eighth day of September, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and fourteen, and of the independence of the United States of America the 125th."

(Signed) WOODROW WILSON.
By the President: William Jennings Bryan, Secretary of State.

Straus called upon the diplomats. Before his departure, Mr. Straus declined to admit that his visit had any relation with peace. "The time may come—in fact, must come," he said, "when our good office of mediation for the hope and the tangible instrument in bringing peace to the world will be realized by following the policy of neutrality."

Effort to have this horrible carnage cease and to have the difference settled by arbitration."

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—The Rev. Dr. John P. S. Chadwick, rector of St. Joseph's Seminary at Yonkers, N. Y., and chaplain of the Maine when it was blown up in the harbor, said in connection with the peace movement:

"The war is the greatest calamity that has come upon civilization since the beginning of the Christian era. It is not only on account of the lives that are lost and the material damage that is done, but principally because in this day of enlightenment and of Christian progress, should we throw all Christendom into the mire of this conflict."

"It would seem that, if the Christian world is to be saved, there should be something found in the message of the Prince of Peace to make them stop and consider their awful responsibility before the throne of God."

"Against the rest of the Christian world at least address the new Pontiff, who stands aloof and away from any personal interest or consideration, to become the mediator in this awful situation."

CLEAR MISSION OF U. S. IS TO MEDIATE, DECLARES MARKS

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—Marcus Marks, president of the Borough of Manhattan, believes the United States may figure as mediator in the present conflict. He has given the AMERICAN this statement:

By MARCUS M. MARKS. "We have a clear mission before us. Our country has the finest opportunity for real service of any people in the world's history. We will be able, after the combatants have suffered to their uttermost of their endurance, to offer mediation to bring about a final settlement."

All parties will be likely to avail themselves of the office of neutral like ourselves, who, largely through geographical location, have happily not been entangled in the network of war."

Having within our boundaries a little England, a little Germany, a little France, a little Russia, a little Austria, a little Japan, a little Belgium, we are so constituted as to be able to represent sympathetically the call of all the struggling nations and be able to give to the highest opportunity to help restore to the world universal peace with justice."

Eager Paris sends victory already: The fate of the city may hang upon the present battle. They are fighting at long range with cannon and with rifles with bayonets, so furious in the conflict.

They are fighting with fire. A German force took up a position back of a forest. The British troops fired the forest and the Germans fell before the flames.

The Belgian War Office announced at Antwerp today that the Germans had attacked the Belgian army, but had been repulsed with heavy losses. "The Belgian War Office announced victory early in the morning. It said that the Germans were reported retreating on Ghent."

The official announcements from Paris and Antwerp, coupled with the correspondent's own reports, indicate decided gains for the allies.

All the news does not favor the allies, however. Apparently the Austrian army on the Russian frontier, reported as having been cut to pieces by the Czar's forces, is by no means out of commission.

The Russian general staff at Petrograd (St. Petersburg) today admitted that the Austrian armies had not been completely shattered by the decisive defeat near Lemberg. Official reports from the front stated that the Austrians who fell back at Lemberg and the other Austrian forces forced out of Russia-Poland succeeded in uniting. Then new troops from southern Galicia came up to help them and new Austrian troops, which are going after the Russian units.

Fels-Naptha means more than "just soap." It means that you are saved time, strength and worry; that you can have some pleasure and be in health and spirit to enjoy it. It means that your house will be a pleasure to keep clean, and your clothes will look better and wear longer.

Fels-Naptha Soap is the cool-water soap. No heat, no steam—and no grease either. Hot water doesn't cut grease, it only melts it. Fels-Naptha Soap dissolves it, and then makes it disappear. It takes out all kinds of stains, even blood stains. It makes your clothes white, without hurting delicate materials. It cleans everything. It does everything for you in half the time, and with half the trouble.

bachelor of science. It is charged in the warrant that he is Jerome James Welton, who first appeared, as far as traceable, in Chicago, Scotland, in 1914, where he opened offices under the name of the "Cox Brass Manufacturing Company, Limited." The company sold auto supplies, especially apparatus for burning out automobiles cylinders with oxygen.

May 29 of this year Welton disappeared from Glasgow with one of his young women stenographers, especially Glasgow stockholders want to see him very much.

Investigation shows no English baronet by the name of "Sir James Carlton." Carlton refused to tell when he was created a baronet or why or any details about his birth or family.

Investigation shows no graduate of Trinity College by the name of Carlton. To reporters at the Hotel Touraine Carlton put on a college gown which he said he wore when he received his degree at Oxford.

FIXED NO PATENTS. Things seemed very bright to "Sir" James today when he arrived at his offices at an hour or so before the immigration inspectors arrested him. "I have just returned from Philadelphia," he said, "where we are to build an oxygen plant."

"All our capital comes from England. We are going to build an American oxygen plant. This war will help our business immensely. The German supply of oxygen will be cut off and our plants, using my fifty-two patents for the manufacture of oxygen, will be busy."

Investigation failed to reveal any American or English patents taken out by James Carlton.

Carlton was arrested by Immigration Inspector F. P. Welles in the elaborate offices of the United States Oxygen Company in the new John Hancock building.

"This is not the true," said Carlton, who said that he had just returned from Philadelphia, where he was building an oxygen plant.

When told that his wife had been arrested in Cambridge, Carlton said: "My God." He appeared all broken up. He drew a check for $1000 on First Exchange Trust Company and sent one of his clerks to the bank to get the money, as he was told late amount of bail would be required at least. He was then taken to Long Wharf where, with his wife, he was arraigned before the immigration commissioner. He is charged with bringing into this country as his wife a woman not his wife.

CARLTON PRESIDENT. On the doors of Carlton's offices appear no lettering but simply the monogram "J. & S. C." for the United States Oxygen Corporation given out by Carlton's clerks. The literature of this company as given out by Carlton's clerks says that his company was incorporated under the laws of New Jersey June 2, 1914, with capital of $100,000. Carlton said today that $10,000 of this has been paid in.

The catalogue of the company gives the following officers: President, J. & S. C.; First vice-president, Scott H. Tolman of Tolman Manufacturing Company, South Boston.

Second vice-president, Samuel L. Kent, Secretary, Philadelphia, Hydro Electric Company and the Northeastern Electric Company.

Secretary-treasurer, Ed. A. Byrne, formerly assistant manager, post vault, Exchange Trust Company, South Boston.

Eastern manager, Carl Holden, formerly of Alex. Milburn Company, Superintendent, East Boston Plant, Harley M. Teller, formerly connected with Pure River Ship Company, Chief engineer, Lee Heeler, formerly of Southfield.

The catalogue explains that Carlton is chairman of the United States Oxygen Company, Limited, and of the Associated Laboratories Company, Limited.

Much of the printed matter in the catalogue in the Boston office appears in the catalogue issued by J. J. Welton, R. C. explaining where he was building an oxygen plant. "Cox Brass Manufacturing Company of Glasgow."

MITCHELL'S SIDELIGHTS ON SPORTS

EVERYBODY is talking about the record-breaking crowds that attended the Labor Day baseball game at Fenway Park. The business of a newspaper, I like it, is to print things that people talk about.

In the matter of figures, the ticket offices and completely filling the street outside the park.

Why Ship American Gold to Europe?

If We Are to Be Neutral, Let Us Be Neutral Also in Gold—the CHIEF WAR METAL

Copyright, 1914, by the Author.

"First—A gold supply sufficiently large and a currency system sufficiently elastic to meet all the demands of agricultural and industrial production, of trade and transportation, and the consequent financial transactions."

—From a recent article by W. R. Hearst.

The right kind of currency rules and regulations just now would be the kind that would KEEP MONEY IN AMERICA.

The other nations are protecting themselves, their citizens and their credit as well as they can. They stop at nothing, they declare "moratoria," suspending the payment of all debts.

They are bidding high for gold. WE HAVE NO GOLD TO SPARE.

Yet various plans are on foot for paying out American gold in Europe.

New York City has tens of millions of debts maturing payable abroad in GOLD.

Various corporations and private individuals owe money in Europe. And the idea is to get the GOLD over there to pay it.

One of our biggest and ablest bankers urges the importance of paying our European obligations in gold, and says that failure to make gold payments would hurt this nation for generations to come.

WHY?

If they can establish in Europe a moratorium, ceasing payments of ALL kinds, can we not legitimately and properly establish in this country a rule that will prevent all shipments of gold abroad?

Nobody to whom the United States owes money in Europe fears that he is not going to GET it.

About the only sure thing commercially just now is the certainty that the United States WILL pay.

But the United States should not ship GOLD abroad any more than it should ship BULLETS or DYNAMITE or other fighting material.

GOLD IS THE PRINCIPAL FIGHTING MATERIAL.

Every gold dollar will buy so many bullets. And so many bullets will destroy so many lives.

Gold is needed in this country, and it should be KEPT here. Every nation at war, or menaced by the war, takes such measures as it sees fit to protect its own interests.

This country has the right to protect its interests, its citizens, its financial condition.

And a prompt step should be ABSOLUTE PROHIBITION of ALL GOLD SHIPMENTS.

If this country owes gold to anybody, let him come here and get it. LET HIM COME HERE AND SPEND IT.

But this country should be neutral, and to forbid gold exportation is to be TRULY NEUTRAL.

If an Englishman or an English corporation owes money to a concern in this country, there is no question of shipping gold over here, or any kind of money.

The American to whom the money is owed would be told politely, "We have declared a moratorium, and are not paying anything."

The United States will continue to pay, as it is able to do so. But we should pay in securities or currency OTHER THAN GOLD. Or if we pay gold because corporations or municipalities feel bound to do so, we should pay it HERE IN AMERICA, AND NOWHERE ELSE, and forbid its exportation.

The Government of the United States should forbid the exportation of gold while the war lasts, as a measure of fairness and neutrality and to discourage war.

Let Us Make Plain White Cotton Socks the Fashion

What is the Use of Dyes, Anyhow? White is a Healthful, as Well as a Beautiful Color

Copyright, 1914, by the Author.

The manufacturers of the country have great difficulty in getting dyes for coloring their cotton goods.

Let the people make up their minds to go WITHOUT the dyes. Certain young gentlemen of extreme fashions have recently been wearing white socks of silk or cotton.

Let the whole country be in the extreme of fashion and wear white socks also.

If you wear things that are white, you know, and the rest of the world knows, that they are CLEAN.

White suits for street cleaners, white dresses of cotton for women, white socks and white cotton stockings for everybody, man, woman and child, would be a very good arrangement.

Thus we could go ahead with our cotton business, making PLAIN WHITE the FASHION, doing perfectly well without the various dyes, of which the best thing you can say is that they are usually harmless.

While others are busy with war, we want to be busy with prosperity. The best thing we can do is plan to use things made in America, keeping each other occupied, and SPENDING OUR MONEY HERE.

American Fashions for Americans at Last

Now That the Paris Designers Have Gone to War, We Can Build Up a Dress-making and Millinery Industry Here

By DOROTHY DIX

Copyright, 1914, by the Author.

THE news comes from France that Messrs. Paquin, Worth, Poiret and other famous couturiers have laid aside the scissors for the sword and gone to fight for their country, and that, until this cruel war is over, there will be no more Paris fashions.

Thus does a merciful Providence temper even the horrors of battle, and if the inventors of the hobble skirt and the stomach band and the wrinkled blouse, and the other atrocities that have been inflicted upon femininity of late, should be slain, there are a lot of us that would shed no tears over their loss.

But, in all seriousness, this war gives the American dressmaker her chance to show what she can do, and to forever break the golden chains that have bound her countrywomen like slaves to the Parisian designer.

We have talked a lot of late years about American fashions for American women, and many of us have looked forward prayerfully to a day when we would not only have clothes designed and made by our own people, but clothes that would come nearer to meeting the needs and expressing the sane ideals of American life than do the flibber-gibber confections we get from Paris.

Our Modistes Are Just as Artistic as the French

We are tired of wearing garments that look as if they were designed by a person suffering from delirium tremens to be worn by individuals afflicted with softening of the brain.

It has always seemed absurd that inventive America, that has flooded the world with its marvelous machinery and its patented labor-saving devices, and whose bridges and skyscrapers have made Europe marvel, hadn't enough ingenuity to trim a hat or devise a new dress. As a matter of fact, it has.

Our dressmakers and milliners are just as artistic and just as skillful as any in Paris or London or Vienna. The trouble has been that heretofore they have had to work under cover. Women have been so imbued with the Paris superstition, and have made such a fetish of the Paris trademark, that our own designers have been sacrificed to it.

Whenever a dressmaker created a particularly beautiful confection she had to pretend that it was the work of some Paris designer. Whenever a milliner turned out a dream of a hat, she had to attribute it to a French woman or else her stupid countrywomen turned up their noses at it.

It is an open secret that the taps of famous Paris milliners and dressmakers are sold in America by the tens of thousands, and are calmly sewed in dresses and hats that have never been within thousands of miles of France. It has been estimated that seventy-five per cent. of the Paris garments sold in America are really made in America and designed in America.

Now are the people who sell these garments to blame. It is the customers who force the fraud upon them. Any woman who designs a beautiful hat or gown would like to sign it with her own name.

American Women Make a Fetish of the Paris Label

She would like to get the credit for it if the foolish and unparitistic woman who buys it was not willing to pay more for it because of its French label.

Now that the war has put an end to even the alleged importation of French fashions, it gives the American milliners and dressmakers their opportunity. They can claim their own good work and convince their doubting Thomases of slanders that American wits are as keen, American fingers as nimble, American taste as good, and American designers can concoct garments that will be beautiful and sensible instead of freakish.

If we can establish American fashions for American women we shall open the door of opportunity to multitudes of our countrywomen and keep millions of good American dollars at home.

And we shall take dressmaking and millinery out of the despised trades and put them where they belong, among the artistic professions. This will attract to them the women who have a highly developed color sense and a knowledge of form and line, and who are now starving along trying to paint pictures for which there is no market.

War Will Build Up a U. S. Dressmaking Industry

These women will find their medium of expression in silks and satins and velvets, instead of oils or water colors, and they will grow rich and famous, for women will vie with each other in possessing their masterpieces.

Men say that the European war is going to build up a great American marine. Believe me, it is also going to build up a great American dressmaking and millinery industry, and hereafter we are not going to brag that our clothes were made abroad, but that they were made at home.

DO YOU KNOW THAT—

3,470,587 people live within a radius of 50 miles of the Gilded Dome on Beacon Hill and that Boston is thus the centre of the second largest population in the United States, leading Philadelphia by 526,739 and Chicago by 627,530 in the same radius?

Frederick Palmer's Great War Novel "THE LAST SHOT" Begins Thursday in the BOSTON AMERICAN

Mr. Palmer is the famous war correspondent and novelist selected to be the sole official representative of the International News Association (supplying the Boston AMERICAN) and the other news associations of the United States, with the army of the allies in Europe.

His great new novel, "THE LAST SHOT," is declared by experts to be the most remarkable contribution to the literature of warfare made during the present century.

The plot closely follows the facts of war. German tactics are prophetically described in the book, which presents one of the strongest arguments for doing away with all war which has ever appeared in print.

"THE LAST SHOT" will appear exclusively in the Boston AMERICAN, beginning next Thursday.
